

STATE SURPLUS PROPERTY PROGRAM

Program Synopsis

State Surplus Property Program receives excess property from state agencies and sells the property to eligible recipients. Property not disposed of in this manner is sold to the general public at auction. Surplus vehicles are stored at the surplus vehicle lot and surplus property is stored in the warehouse at 4200 Surface Road in Columbus. Some property is disposed of on-site when permission is granted.

Eligibility

The following organizations are eligible to purchase surplus property: (1) state agencies; (2) state-supported or state-assisted institutions of higher education; (3) tax-supported agencies, municipal corporations or other political subdivisions of the state, private fire companies, or private, nonprofit emergency medical service organizations; (4) nonpublic elementary and secondary schools chartered by the State Board of Education; and (5) eligible nonprofit organizations.

Program Benefits

The program provides a source of supply at prices considerably below what is available from other vendors. Vehicles are sold at 60% of NADA retail value, while other property is generally priced well below original acquisition price.
