

Office of Talent Management, Learning and Professional Development Class Cancellation Guidelines

The DAS Office of Talent Management-Learning and Professional Development (OTM-LPD) reserves the right to cancel classes and maintains the responsibility to inform enrolled learners of such cancellations in a timely manner.

Please know that LPD courses are rarely cancelled and it is always our first choice to conduct a class unless absolutely necessary.

An LPD course may be cancelled only for very specific and unique reasons. These reasons include:

- Inclement weather preventing the instructor and/or a large number of enrolled learners to attend class.
 - Cautioning from the Ohio Department of Public Safety (and related to DAS or the news media) will be determining factors in the decision to cancel class.
 - We will follow the winter weather advisories announced for the counties in Central Ohio: Delaware, Fairfield, Franklin, Licking, Madison, Pickaway and Union.
 - Level 2 snow emergencies in Franklin County or a majority of surrounding counties (as noted above) will generally result in course cancellations.
 - Building power outages or other conditions that make the training venue unusable.
 - Emergency circumstances leading to evacuation from or restrictions toward the use of the training venue.
 - Low enrollment for a particular class as determined by LPD.
 - Enrollment numbers are checked in ELM three (3) days prior to a class session.
 - Unforeseen instructor emergencies.
- Note: Our primary training locations, the Rhodes building (30 East Broad St.) and DAS' General Services Division (4200 Surface Rd.), are both in Franklin County.
