“The lessons I have learned from attending and completing the Lead Ohio: Inspirational Leaders program have been applied in the workplace and have strengthened the mission and vision of my division.”

“I can honestly say the lessons learned through Lead Ohio have developed me to be a better leader and supervisor to my staff, and I focus on bringing out the best from each employee. While learning the techniques of conflict communication, I found that sometimes the best communication tool is to just listen.”

Michael P. Studeny, ODNR

“Recently, we hired a new Training Officer. Prior to her first day, I mailed her a small packet of information about our team and agency. While assembling the packet, I remembered we had completed our team profile in Lead Ohio: Inspirational Leaders using the Belkin team roles assessment. So I included a copy of our team profile to give her a sense of our composition. She followed up with an email thanking me for the team spirit and for helping her to get a running start on her first day.”

Matthew Dyer, OBM

“I have found that the Lead Ohio: Inspirational Leaders program provides an interactive experience for leaders across the State of Ohio to obtain and apply new skills required to be successful. The situations discussed during the classes are relevant issues and it is insightful to discuss options with other managers. I have found that one of the most valuable take-aways is the network of peers I have gained by attending the classes. We are all very busy, but I find the time spent in these classes is time well spent.”
