Rescinded as of 03/17/2008 State of Ohio IT Policy Business Resumption Planning	NO: ITP-E.7
	Effective: 01/01/1992
	Issued By: R. Steve Edmondson Director, Office of Information Technology State Chief Information Officer

ITP-E.7, "Business Resumption Planning," was rescinded effective March 17, 2008, and is no longer in effect.

This policy has been temporarily replaced by Ohio IT Guideline, "Information Technology Business Continuity Planning," which reflects the latest best practices and industry trends. The approach outlined in the guideline is designed to integrate business impact analysis and risk assessment data to provide a foundation for the development of a business continuity plan that will help ensure the continuation of critical business functions that are supported by technology in the event of a disruption.

It is anticipated that the guideline will become state policy in the future. In the interim, agencies are strongly encouraged to adopt Ohio IT Guideline, "Information Technology Business Continuity Planning." The guideline is available for immediate agency use at:
